INTRODUCTION

Introduction to the General Social Survey (GSS)

The General Social Survey (sometimes, General Social Surveys) is a series of nationally representative cross-sectional interviews in the United States that have occurred since 1972. The GSS collects data on contemporary American society to monitor and explain trends in opinions, attitudes, and behaviors. The GSS has adapted questions from earlier surveys, thereby allowing researchers to conduct comparisons for up to 80 years. Originally proposed and developed by James A. Davis, the GSS has been administered by NORC at the University of Chicago (NORC) and funded by the National Science Foundation (NSF) since its inception. Currently, the GSS is designed by a set of Primary Investigators (PIs), with input from the GSS Board, comprised of notable researchers within the scientific community.

The GSS contains a standard core of demographic, behavioral, and attitudinal questions, plus topics of special interest. Among the topics covered are civil liberties, crime and violence, intergroup tolerance, morality, national spending priorities, psychological well-being, social mobility, and stress and traumatic events. Altogether, the GSS is the single best source for sociological and attitudinal trend data covering the United States. It allows researchers to examine the structure and functioning of society in general, as well as the role played by relevant subgroups and to compare the United States to other nations. The GSS aims to make high-quality data easily accessible to scholars, students, policymakers, and others, with minimal cost and waiting.

The GSS has been tracking trends in public opinion since 1972. Throughout, the GSS has taken great care to keep the survey methodology as comparable over time as possible, which includes everything from keeping the same sampling approach to not changing question wording. This is done to minimize potential changes due to changes in methodology and support the study of trends in public opinion in the United States over time. However, due to the global COVID19 pandemic, the 2021 GSS Cross-section¹ implemented significant methodological adaptations for the safety of respondents and interviewers. Since its inception, the GSS has traditionally used in-person data collection as its primary mode of data collection. The 2021 GSS Cross-section moved to an address-based sampling with push to web and a web self-administered questionnaire. This new survey design and methodology bring numerous changes, which are discussed in this codebook.

The GSS comprises a core set of items (the Replicating Core) that are repeated every round, as well as topical modules, which may or may not be repeated. The GSS is currently composed of three separate ballots (A, B, and C), as well as two separate forms (X and Y), which allow for up to six different paths through the interview itself (in addition to paths determined by respondent answers, such as questions about spouses or partners, or questions on employment). Not every question in the Replicating Core is asked of every respondent; most only appear on two of the three ballots. However, every item in the Replicating Core overlaps on at least one ballot with every other item in the Replicating Core, ensuring that researchers can estimate inter-item correlations. Forms are used for experiments such as wording variations within questions, ensuring that half of the respondents on each ballot see the experimental or control conditions of each relevant variable. Within the GSS, these form experiments are usually assigned mnemonics that end in -Y.

Topical modules are typically assigned to either two full ballots (e.g., A and B) or one full ballot and one half-ballot (e.g., A and BX), covering two-thirds or half of sample respondents, respectively. However, some topical modules are included on all ballots. Modules are usually assigned to specific ballots based on one of two conditions: overlap with other key questions (either ensuring that respondents to specific items also receive specific modules or that respondents to specific items do not receive specific modules), or time constraints. The GSS tries to balance the length of all six paths to be approximately equal. Topical modules may be administered via interviewer in any mode or completed by self-administered questionnaire, depending on the sensitivity of the items included.

Topical modules come from several different sources. While the GSS broadly is funded by NSF, individual modules may be sponsored by other government agencies, universities, research institutes, or individuals. The GSS typically includes modules every round that are related to the International Social Survey Programme (ISSP), a consortium of national-level studies like the GSS (for more information, see Introduction to the International Social Survey Programme, below). Finally, modules may be solicited by the GSS Scientific Advisory Board or the Principal Investigators and can be included based on scientific merits and available time in the interview. The number of GSS modules varies by year.

Additionally, the GSS has implemented experimental designs over time or through collaborations (for instance, supporting other studies such as the National Organization Studies, National Congregations Study, National Voluntary Associations Study, and the 2016-2020 General Social Survey-American National Election Studies (GSS-ANES) Panel), which have led to several ancillary datasets.

Introduction to the International Social Survey Programme (ISSP)

The ISSP is a consortium of nationally representative research studies, like the GSS, who have all agreed to ask questions on the same topics on an annual basis. It emerged out of bilateral collaboration with NORC and the German organization Zentrum für Umfragen, Methoden, und Analysen (ZUMA; now part of GESIS-Leibniz Institute of the Social Sciences). Starting in 1982, each organization devoted a small segment of their national surveys, ALLBUS and GSS, to a common set of questions. The ISSP was formally established in 1984 by Australia, Germany, Great Britain, and the United States, and it now has 42 member countries across five continents and collects data in 70 countries. NORC represents the United States as a country in the ISSP.

ISSP modules have several defining criteria:

- Modules are developed in English and translated to every administered language.
- Modules must contain approximately 60 questions and can be supplemented by optional items, as well as around 40 items on background and demographic characteristics.
- Modules must contain the same items across all languages and studies, asked in the same order, with minor variations to account for mode differences or regional differences.²
- Each topical module must be administered within a relatively narrow time frame, usually about 18 months from the start of the relevant year.

² For example, asking about Congress or Parliament, or asking about the European Union or NAFTA.

ISSP Modules are currently replicated every 10 years, allowing for topics to be studied as both a multinational snapshot at a single point in time as well as a slowly evolving repeated cross-section of national opinions. While not every topic is repeated, the longest-running module is up to its fifth replication. ISSP rules require that when a topic is repeated, at least two-thirds of the questions must be repeated from a previous round, while up to one-third can be new questions.

Since 1985, the ISSP topics have included:

Study Overview

Due to the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic in the United States in the early months of 2020, GSS staff redesigned the GSS in several ways to ensure the safety and well-being of all the people who participate in and administer the study.

In 2020, we conducted the GSS as two studies: 1) a panel re-interview of past respondents from the 2016 and 2018 cross-sectional GSS studies (referred to as the 2016-2020 GSS Panel), and 2) an independent fresh cross-sectional address-based sampling push-to-web study (referred to in this document as the 2021 GSS Cross-section but also known as the 2020 cross-sectional survey in previous documents). This codebook provides details of the second study—namely, the 2021 GSS Cross-section, where newly selected respondents answered a GSS questionnaire from December 2020 to May 2021. We refer to the second study as the 2021 GSS Cross-section because the majority of the data was collected in 2021. Documentation for the first study (the 2016-2020 GSS Panel) is provided separately. During the spring and summer of 2020, GSS staff redesigned both the panel and the cross-section to be administered primarily via web self-administered questionnaire, instead of face-to-face interviews, with phone interviews as a secondary mode.

Each of these major changes had several ramifications for sampling, fielding, questionnaire design, data cleaning, response rates, and weights.

Cross-section Overview

This codebook focuses on the 2021 GSS Cross-section survey.⁵ While this iteration of the Cross-section has meaningful changes from previous editions, there is much that remains consistent. Just as was done since 2004, the GSS Cross-section survey administers a full-probability sample approach with samples created from an adapted form of the United States Postal Service (USPS) metropolitan statistical area (MSA)/county frame area. More on the GSS conventional design can be found on pages 3177–3178 of the legacy cumulative codebook, available at the GSS website.⁶

The GSS has been conducted since 1972 and currently functions as a social indicators program, which highly values historical trends and continuity. To that end, the GSS's replicating core contains items that have been asked since its inception. In some cases, these items were asked on even older surveys, allowing for continuous measurement of concepts since the 1940s.

⁵ In 2020, the GSS also reinterviewed participants from the 2016 and 2018 rounds of data collection to form the 2016-2020 GSS Panel. Documentation for that can be found here: <https://gss.norc.org/Documents/codebook/2016-2020%20GSS%20Panel%20Codebook%20-%20R1.pdf>

⁶ https://gss.norc.org/Documents/codebook/gss_codebook.zip

GSS variables appear at three different frequencies. Items in the Replicating Core, Household Composition, and Contact/Validation typically appear every year and are rarely altered (although, in 2020, they feature modification for the web mode). Items in some topical modules, such as ISSP modules, can appear in multiple years, but not every year. Finally, items on the rest of the topical modules typically only appear in a single year. In the 2021 GSS, the NSF Science Knowledge and Attitudes (reduced set of questions), Healthy People, ISSP Social Inequality, and ISSP Environment modules are repeats from previous years, while the Social Inequality (sponsored), Religion (sponsored), and Board-Initiated modules are new.

The 2021 GSS Cross-section includes the following Topical Modules:

- ISSP Social Inequality: This module has previously been asked four times, beginning in 1982, and last in 2009. It focuses on attitudes toward and descriptions of social inequality, both between individuals and between countries. This iteration was created by the ISSP 2019 Drafting Group, led by Jarè Struwig and Benjamin Roberts of South Africa. Like all ISSP modules, two-thirds of the items are repeats from previous rounds, while one-third are new items.
- ISSP Environment: This module has previously been asked three times, beginning in 1993, and last in 2010. It focuses on attitudes and opinions about the environment, including newly expanded items focusing on climate change. This iteration was created by the ISSP 2020 Drafting Group, led by Markus Hadler and Markus Schweighart of Austria. Like all ISSP modules, two-thirds of the items are repeats from previous rounds, while one-third are new items.
- Healthy People: Healthy People is focused on self-rated perceptions of mental and physical health. It was previously asked in 2018. Healthy People was proposed to the GSS by William T. Riley, Director, Office of Behavioral and Social Sciences Research, National Institutes of Health.
- Religion: Religion expands the GSS Replicating Core religion opinion items, looking at religious identity and belief, as well as attitudes toward religion in secular contexts. Religion was developed by Melissa Wilde and Michele Margolis at University of Pennsylvania.
- Social Inequality: Social Inequality is meant to pair with ISSP Social Inequality, expanding topics within the Social Inequality module, focusing on the relationships and obligations between workers, government, and private businesses. It was developed by Leslie McCall (City University of New York), Jonas Edlund (Umeå universitet), and Arvid Lindh (Stockholms universitet).
- NSF Science Knowledge and Attitudes: Following the recommendation from the GSS Scientific Advisory Board, a reduced version of the NSF Science Knowledge and Attitudes module, active since 2006, was asked on the 2021 GSS Cross-section. The reduced module maintained only the items thought to be relevant to the COVID-19 pandemic.
- High-risk Behaviors: High Risk Behaviors, developed by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), is a self-administered module that has been in use with modifications since 1988. It includes items on recent sexual history as well as sexual history since the age of 18, as well as drug use, HIV testing, and sexual orientation.
- GSS Scientific Advisory Board Items: At the request of the GSS Scientific Advisory Board, several items were added to the 2021 GSS Cross-section in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, as well as civil unrest movements in the wake of the killings of Breonna Taylor and George Floyd, among others, in the spring and summer of 2020. The Board module contains items on racial discrimination, attitudes toward policing, and trust related to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Paradata derived from instrument	Paradata is released in a file separate from the cumulative data file and contains 4 variables. Users can download the paradata at https://gss.norc.org/Documents/other/Paradata2021.zip .

Occasionally, the cumulative datafile is updated with newly cleaned or derived variables, and error corrections. Please see Release Notes⁷ for changes since the initial release of the 1972-2021 Cumulative file and Log of Suspected Issues for potential changes in the future.

Datafile Overview

Available datafiles for the 2021 GSS include:

- GSS 1972-2021 Cross-Sectional Cumulative Data (Release 3a, January 2023) in Stata and SAS
- Individual Year Data for the 2021 GSS in Stata and SAS
- Customized data extracts in Stata, SAS, and SPSS created using the GSS Data Explorer

The SPSS version of the GSS data is not currently supported. Users can still use the GSS data in SPSS by importing the Stata data file in SPSS. However, SPSS users should be aware that all missing values (DK, NA, IAP, and other missing values) will be automatically recoded to SYSMIS (.) in SPSS after importing. Alternatively, users can use File Extraction the GSS Data Explorer to get a SPSS-formatted data file. Please note that missing values will be all converted to discrete negative values, and SPSS will not recognize them as designated missing values.

⁷ <https://gss.norc.org/Documents/other/Release%20Notes%207221.pdf>

In rare occasions, GSS used decimal values for response categories. Due to the limitation of Stata, labels could not be assigned to those decimal values in the Stata-formatted GSS data file.

NOTE ON MEASUREMENT AND INTERPRETATION

The GSS has been tracking trends in public opinion since 1972. Over this time, the GSS has taken great care to keep the survey methodology as comparable over time as possible, which includes everything from keeping the same sampling approach to not changing question wording. This is done to minimize potential changes due to methodology and support the study of changes in public opinion in the United States. However, due to the global COVID-19 pandemic, the 2021 GSS⁸ needed to implement significant methodological adaptations for the safety of respondents and interviewers. Since its inception, the GSS has traditionally used in-person data collection as its primary mode of data collection. In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the GSS altered its methodology for the first time to be primarily an address-based sampling push-to-web methodology in 2021. As a result, when examining changes in trends over time, we caution GSS data users to carefully examine how a change they are observing in a trend may have been impacted by the methodological differences employed in 2021. The 2021 GSS Cross-section codebook provides documentation of the methodological changes and adaptations that were necessary to transition the GSS survey from in-person to a web survey.

Total Survey Error Perspective for GSS Trend Estimates in 2021

The GSS was collected in 2021 to provide vital opinion data to the research community at a critical time in U.S. history. While the data will contribute to our understanding of society, any changes in public opinion seen in the 2021 GSS data could be due to either changes in actual opinion and/or changes the GSS made in the methodology to adapt to COVID-19. When evaluating the GSS for trend changes over time, we caution our users to carefully consider changes in the GSS methodology from a total survey error perspective. Total survey error is a way of comprehending the impact on estimates due to measurement, non-response, coverage, and sampling error. Below, we provide a high-level summary of the components of the total survey error in the 2021 GSS Cross-section, but we invite the user to carefully review the details in the present document.

Measurement Error: Changes in how survey questions were administered can impact the answers. The GSS has traditionally been conducted in person and administered by an interviewer. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the GSS needed to administer survey questions primarily over the web without any interviewer assistance. Some cases were collected over the phone as well. To adapt to the primary mode of administration (web), some changes were needed in the measures. For example, “Don’t Know” response categories were included for factual questions, but they were not displayed for opinion questions (only for factual questions). In the past, Don’t Knows could be recorded by interviewers regardless of whether they were factual or opinion questions.

Non-Response Error: Historically, the GSS has achieved high response rates well above 50 percent, mostly because in-person surveys can attain higher response rates. The 2021 GSS was conducted using a mail invite to push the respondent to the web. The 2021 GSS Cross-section response rate is 17 percent (which is still high for web surveys). Differential participation rates across selected GSS participants in 2020 relative to previous years could also contribute to a change in estimates. To help control for this concern, the GSS implemented an adjustment to known population totals for the 2021 Cross-section round based on a raking approach (i.e., post-stratification weighting) to ensure the weighted totals in the 2021 GSS Cross-section sample are as close as possible to the control totals from the U.S. Census Bureau estimates by education, sex, age, region of the country, race, and ethnicity.

Coverage Error: In 2021, the GSS had to change how it rostered and ultimately estimated adults residing in a household. Typically, household rosters have been used in the in-person methodology to randomly select one adult in the household to complete the survey. That is, in previous years the GSS has instructed interviewers to complete an initial household enumeration form to collect some basic data on everyone residing in a household and then randomly chose one adult with whom to complete the main interview. In the 2021 GSS such a household enumeration was not possible up front, and the GSS instructed selected households to identify the adult with the most recent birthday and to report the number of adults living in the household. It is possible that respondent selection may have happened at the household level or missed some household residents (for instance, people abroad, adult children living at home, etc.).

Sampling Error: The 2021 GSS Cross-section relies on scientific sampling to allow for the calculation of sampling error (i.e., margin of error). As in any scientific sample, any one trend from year to year can be impacted by the fact we only observed a sample and not the entire population. The dataset contains survey design variables (clusters, strata, and weights) to account for the complex survey sample design. And it is possible that our trend estimates are off by a sampling or “margin of error” between any given set of years. It is essential, therefore, to control for sampling error by conducting tests of significance for trend differences estimates.

We recommend our users include the one of the following statements when reporting on the GSS 2021 Cross-section data:

Total Survey Error Summary Perspective for the 2021 GSS Cross-section:

Changes in opinions, attitudes, and behaviors observed in 2021 relative to historical trends may be due to actual change in concept over time and/or may have resulted from methodological changes made to the survey methodology during the COVID-19 global pandemic.

Suggested Statement to Include in Articles and Reports That Use GSS Data

To safeguard the health of staff and respondents during the COVID-19 pandemic, the 2021 GSS data collection used a mail-to-web methodology instead of its traditional in-person interviews. Research and interpretation done using the data should take extra care to ensure the analysis reflects actual changes in public opinion and is not unduly influenced by the change in data collection methods. For more information on the 2021 GSS methodology and its implications, please visit <https://gss.norc.umd.edu/Get-The-Data>.

MAJOR CHANGES TO THE CROSS-SECTION 2021 GSS

The GSS made methodological changes in the 2021 Cross-section survey, compared with previous GSS Cross-section studies. The changes relate to shifts in the mode of data collection, and this section explains these in detail.

Changes Related to Mode of Data Collection

There are several major methodological changes in the 2021 GSS Cross-section:

Contact protocol: The 2021 GSS Cross-section uses a mail push-to-web respondent methodology instead of an in-person visit to collect data.

Respondent selection: The 2021 GSS Cross-section uses the last birthday method instead of rostering the household and respondent selection via a Kish grid.

Survey mode: The 2021 GSS Cross-section uses the web survey mode (specifically, a web-based self-administered questionnaire) instead of a face-to-face interview.

Each of these changes has consequences for the 2021 GSS Cross-section. These changes are discussed below.

Differential Non-response

The 2021 GSS Cross-section experienced a lower response rate (related to previous face to face GSS studies), which could potentially lead to differential non-response. For example, the unweighted distribution of cases seems to be underrepresenting respondents identifying as “Black” (from 16.4 percent in 2018 to 12.3 percent in 2021). While the 2021 GSS Cross-section provides weights that are adjusted by population controls to represent the country more accurately (as detailed in section “Weight Methodology”), it is important to recognize that the use of a primarily web mode in 2021 may have impacted the respondent composition of those willing/able to respond. In 2021, web was the primary mode for the first time in the GSS, as—due to the limitations brought about by the COVID-19 pandemic—it was not possible to conduct an in-person survey, the primary mode of all other GSS cross-sectional surveys to date.

General Wording Changes

Due to the shift from a face-to-face to a web-based questionnaire, GSS staff modified many survey questions in the 2021 GSS Cross-section for the web instrument. However, the telephone instrument kept the same wording as the face-to-face original wording. The web survey changes can come in many different forms but follow a few distinct operating principles. The changes are intended to:

- Remove conversational language in wording where it was no longer appropriate (e.g., using a more neutral “we” in the place of “I” and “me,” as referring to the interviewer in question stems).
- Standardize terminology where interviewers had chosen options as they saw fit (e.g., switching from “Blacks/African Americans” in the question stem to “Blacks” or “Black people,” depending on the question).

- Reword questions for items in which interviewers could select appropriate language according to information that they could observe but that was not yet recorded in the interview (e.g., reworking questions which used the term husband/wife prior to asking about the sex of the respondent's partner).
- Reword questions for items in which interviewers asked respondents open-ended questions but entered the responses in a combination of open-ended and closed-ended items. These changes were mostly confined to questions on Religion and Occupation/Industry.

Don't Know and No Answer Responses

The GSS implemented a new design for "Don't Know" and "No Answer" responses to minimize the effect of making them visible to respondents on every item. Generally, in previous GSS in-person surveys, interviewers would not show "Don't Know" and "No Answer" response options to respondents on hand cards or read those options to respondents. However, interviewers could always code "Don't Know" or "No Answer" if a respondent did not wish to answer a question. In keeping with this spirit, the 2021 GSS Cross-section web mode made the following modifications for self-administration:

- Removed all "No Answer" response options, instead letting respondents to skip questions they did not wish to answer).
- Removed all "Don't Know" response options for attitudinal questions.
- Displayed "Don't Know" response options in light-grey text, separated from standard responses, on all factual questions.
- "Don't Know" responses were displayed for factual items only.

For all data collected via the web self-administered questionnaire mode, the 2021 GSS Cross-section uses "Skipped on Web" code when a respondent skipped a question. These responses are separated from "No Answer," which can only appear for cases in the phone mode. The 2021 GSS Cross-section Public Use File shows tabulations and response categories used in items across the 2021 GSS Cross-section. See Figure 1 for a screenshot example of an implementation of a "Don't Know" category.

An initial review of the 2021 data conducted by the NORC team during the production stage of the micro dataset indicates that there has not been a meaningful increase in "Don't Know" responses with this rendering method. Rates of "Don't Know" responses on factual items are consistent between phone and web modes. While certain items do show high levels of "Don't Know" responses (e.g., income, information related to parental work), both modes typically show "Don't Know" responses within a single percent of each other. However, this inspection should be considered preliminary. Users are encouraged to conduct their own analyses.

We invite users to assess levels of item non-response for factual questions measured in years past. In fact, while "Don't Know" responses are typically within a percent of each other, the same may not be true for nearly every other substantive response on factual items. For example, 50.8 percent of respondents were married in the web mode, while only 40.34 were married in the phone mode. This may be due to mode preference, respondent composition, or mode effect. We urge caution in the interpretation of results between the two modes, as several hypotheses may explain these differences. (As a note, given that the preliminary inspection seems to indicate that the graphic design elements of the "Don't Know" responses are producing the expected result, this design will be kept for the 2022 GSS, and more insights will be gained through a formal experiment of web versus face-to-face administration, all supplemented with phone).

AGE

The eligibility requirement for respondents remained the same in the 2021 GSS: those who were 18 years old or older on the date of the interview. However, because the survey started in December 2020 and ended in May 2021, there are four respondents who were 17 years old in the 2020 months but were 18 years old when they actually did the survey in the months of 2021. Consistent with decisions around the year of the GSS, the 2021 GSS Cross-section uses 2021 as the base year when calculating the variable “AGE.” No respondents appear under the age of 18, but users may wish to consult the variable ZODIAC and adjust downward any respondents whose birthday appears after May 2021 by one year.

Additionally, the GSS saw much higher levels of non-response to AGE and questions around year of birth in this study. This higher level of non-response is a combination of respondent unwillingness to disclose during the respondent selection process, the Replicating Core questions about birthday, and the Household Composition section, as well as higher levels of breakoff prior to the birthday questions.

SEX

The variable SEX was revised for the web mode as well. In face-to-face interviews, interviewers traditionally coded SEX based on interviewer observation. In the web mode, SEX was asked explicitly of respondents. Sex and gender identity are collected as two separate items: sex recorded at birth (SEXBIRTH1) and current gender identity (SEXNOW1). In the past, these items have only been asked to two-thirds of respondents (i.e., two ballots), on a self-administered topical module. Beginning with the 2020/2021 GSS (both the 2016-2020 GSS Panel Wave 2 and the 2021 GSS Cross-section), SEXBIRTH1 and SEXNOW1 are asked of all respondents. For the purpose of backward compatibility, the cross-section dataset contains SEX, which uses the traditional binary coding scheme, and is based on recoding both SEXBIRTH1 and SEXNOW1 in 2021 (which was collected by interviewer observation in prior years).

Optimization of Items for Web Mode

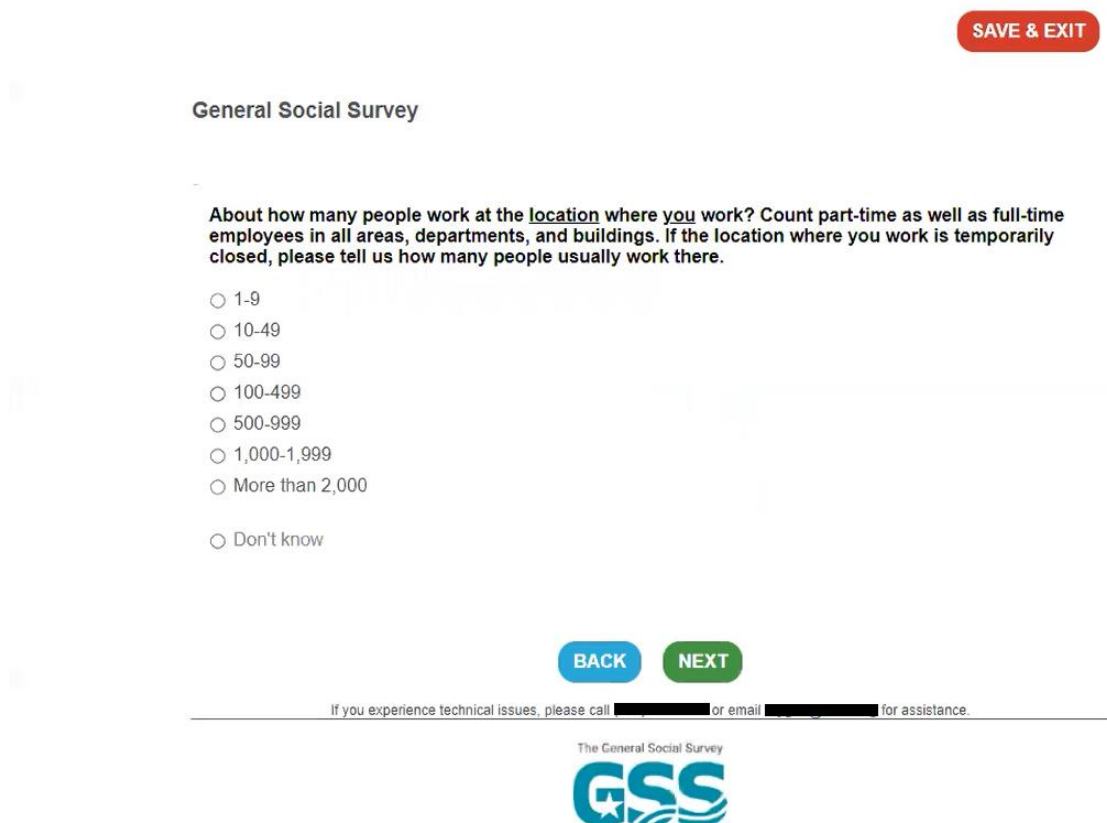

GSS staff have made many other small changes to accommodate the web mode, including changing how items were presented to respondents visually by including buttons and colors for navigation, revising the sequence of certain items, and adjusting the response options for others. In addition, the full questionnaire was optimized for the most common web and smartphone browsers (Chrome, Safari, Firefox, Internet Explorer, Edge, and Opera), as well as various device types (desktop, laptop, tablet, smartphone). These changes, along with the rewording changes, should not substantially affect how respondents answer questions and were mostly meant to minimize “Don’t Know” and “No Answer” responses. For a full account of all changes, please compare questionnaire documentation of the 2021 GSS Cross-section to previous iterations available on the GSS website.⁹

Screenshots of Changes

The 2021 GSS Cross-section comprised primarily a self-administered web questionnaire. The following typical item from this questionnaire displays both the typical layout of a self-administered web questionnaire item and the change to Don't Know response options discussed in Don't Know and No Answer Responses.

DATA FILE STRUCTURE

Reserve Codes for Missing Values

The 2021 GSS Cross-section now uses a standardized set of missing values for all variables:

.d – Don't know (DK). This reserve code is used when respondents indicate that they do not know the answer to a question. For some variables (mostly ISSP variables), this code is used for "Can't choose" which was a response option offered to respondents unlike "Don't know" which was not offered.

.i – Inapplicable (IAP). This reserve code is used when a respondent does not see a question, either due to structural factors (e.g., for a respondent on ballot C, they will be marked inapplicable for a question exclusive to ballots A and B) or to personal factors (e.g., a respondent who is not married will be marked inapplicable for a spouse-related item).

.n – No Answer (NA). This reserve code is used when a respondent refuses to answer a question. In the 2021 GSS, this code is exclusive to phone mode cases. If a respondent gives a "No Answer" response to a screener question, all follow-up questions are marked as "No Answer."

.s – Skipped on Web. This reserve code is used when a respondent skips a question in the web mode. If a respondent skips a screener question, follow-up questions are marked as "Skipped on Web."

.x – Not available in this release. Variables that were asked in the 2021 GSS Cross-section but that have proven difficult to clean (mostly due to mode changes) have been omitted from the first data release. Instead of dropping the variable entirely, all cases are marked with .x, indicating that the data will be made available in a subsequent release.

.y – Not available in this year. Variables that are included in the cumulative GSS datafile but that were not asked in 2021 are coded .y for all cases in 2021. The same is true for variables that are unavailable in 2018, 2016, 2014, etc. Our hope is that .y makes it easier to tell if two variables that are not part of the replicating core have ever overlapped in a given year.

.z – Variable-specific reserve code. Several variables also include a .z reserve code, which documents circumstances or changes that might lead to odd missing data. For example, in 2021, some respondents in the Religion topical module have .z codes because their assigned religion was recoded based on open-ended responses, and as a result, their movement through the module was different than what their responses to RELIG and DENOM imply.

.u – Uncodeable. Some open-ended responses were not codeable to numeric codes, and .u was used instead in such cases.

.m – DK, NA, IAP. Variables created in the 1970s (e.g., OCC, INDUSTRY) used a single missing value that had multiple meanings. .m can mean "Don't know", "No answer", or "Inapplicable".

.b – Blank. This reserve code indicates 'blank' in open-ended responses.

.p – Not imputable. This missing code is used in variables POVLINE and INCDEF. For more information about these variables, please refer to Methodological Report 57 available on the GSS main website.

GSS Layout & Questionnaires

While the GSS is fielded as a single survey, it is composed of three separate ballots. This rotating structure is discussed in greater detail in GSS Methodological Report 52¹⁰ and current distribution of questions is available in The GSS Replicating Core.¹¹ The questions that are repeated in each round are known as the replicating core. Other sections (which may reoccur, but not every year) are called topical modules. Figure 3 shows the distribution of topical modules in the 2021 GSS Cross-section. The GSS includes slightly different wordings between web self-administered and phone interviewer-administered modes. See Major Changes to the Cross-Section GSS in 2021 for full details. All questionnaires are available in both English and Spanish. For the 2021 GSS Cross-section, this amounts to 12 different questionnaires: three ballots in two modes in two languages.

New Experiments in the 2021 GSS Cross-section

Volunteered Responses

For several questions in the GSS Replicating Core, the GSS has traditionally included options that are available for interviewers to code when volunteered by respondents but are not shown or read aloud to respondents. For example, in the traditional face to face instrument, the item COURTS (“In general, do you think the courts in this area deal too harshly or not harshly enough with criminals?”) includes “About right” as a volunteered response for the interviewer to code, but the option is not read to the respondent. These volunteered responses cannot be translated to the web mode effectively. In the web mode, respondents can only select responses that are shown to them on the screen, rather than being able to pick additional, unshown responses.

Motivated by this inability to translate the question design across mode, the 2021 GSS Cross-section includes a new experiment examining volunteered responses. Nineteen questions with volunteered responses were split into two new questions: one with a -V suffix and the other with a -NV suffix. The -V question, which appeared on FORM Y, included the volunteered response as an answer on the screen. The -NV question, which appeared on FORM X, did not include the volunteered response on the screen. A full list of variables for this experiment is shown in Table 2.

These changes affect only the web mode. In the phone mode, respondents had the ability to volunteer responses just as they did in the face-to-face interviews of previous years, regardless of whether they received the -V or -NV form of the questionnaire. As a result, users may see some volunteered responses in the -NV question from respondents who were in the phone mode and gave a volunteered response to an interviewer, who coded it appropriately.

The original version of the -V and -NV variables do not appear in the 2021 GSS Cross-section data, even though they are typically long-running GSS variables. For example, GRASS was not asked in 2021, only GRASSV and GRASSNV. As a result, several long-running GSS trends will not have data for 2021 under the traditional variable name. We urge caution to users when trying to merge the -V and -NV variables as they may present different results.

Note: For one variable, SCIBNFTS, all web mode respondents received SCIBNFTSV, a version of the question that offered the volunteered response “about right” as a possible answer on the screen. Phone respondents were asked the standard version of SCIBNFTS, where the “about right” answer was not offered by the interviewer but was recorded if volunteered. Thus, SCIBNFTSV exists as a variable in the 2021 dataset, but SCIBNFTSNV does not.

Inspection of unweighted data during production of the GSS dataset indicates that in nearly every case, variables tested (with the U.S. citizenship question being the only exception), the experimental condition showed some degree of shift toward the volunteered response option. The changes seem to be in the double digits for most of the variables. These results suggest that visual representation of “volunteered” response options may have implications for the survey web design.

In the 2022 GSS, the original variables will return for face-to-face and phone interviews, while the volunteered response experiment will remain in the web mode.

Use of Grids

The 2021 GSS Cross-section includes an experiment on gridded questions in the web mode. This experiment was motivated by the possibilities of the new mode, as well as by our attempts to reduce overall question length. We selected two sets of items that shared question stems, response options, and conceptual topics—the GSS Core items related to abortion and the GSS Core items related to suicide—and presented them in grids. See Figure 3 for an example of how grids were displayed in the web mode. The grids include no more than four items at a time. For this experiment, the gridded version of each question appeared on FORM X, and the normal version of the question appeared on FORM Y. The gridded variables have the suffix -G. A full list of new variables for this experiment, as well as which grids they were placed in, is shown in Table 2.

Similar to the volunteered response experiment, phone cases were grouped with web cases by FORM. Phone respondents in FORM X had their responses recorded in the -G version of the variable despite being asked the questions verbally and not in grid format.

In the 2021 GSS Cross-section, all the -G variables have a corresponding non-experimental version, which has been asked on the GSS previously. For example, ABDEFECTG is the grid experiment version of the standard GSS variable ABDEFECT. Consequently, ABDEFECT is only available for half of sample (i.e., FORM Y) – compared to previous years – and ABDEFECTG is available for the other half (i.e., FORM X).

Inspection of data during analysis suggest that grids may have effects selectively on certain questions. Users should pay careful attention to the correlation between the gridded items, as showing multiple items per screen may increase inter-item correlation. In the seven abortion items, one did not appear in a grid (ABANYG), but our initial analysis indicated that it showed the effects of the grid experiment as well and has thus been given the -G suffix.

The General Social Survey

Gender-neutral Wording

The 2021 GSS includes a new version using gender-neutral wording (and grid experiments), which is identified with a -Y suffix (the suffix that is standard to indicate wording experiments). For example, an item using gender-neutral wording displays “police officer” instead of a gendered “policeman.” For this experiment, FORM X contains the gendered item (typically using the word “man” and the pronouns “he,” “him,” and “his”), while FORM Y contains the gender-neutral wording. A list of new variables for this experiment is shown in Table 2.

Additionally, initial inspection of the data suggests that while effects may not affect all items, it may more selectively impact certain items. One variable, RACOPEN, was included on both experiments (i.e., gender neutral and volunteered response) and has been included as RACOPENV and RACOPENNV, rather than RACOPENY, as the -V and -NV effect appears stronger.

In the 2021 GSS Cross-section, all the -Y variables in the gender-neutral wording experiment have a corresponding non-experimental version, which has been asked on the GSS previously. This effectively means that the original name is representing only one half of the sample (i.e., FORM X). For example, SPKATH is only available for half of sample (i.e., FORM X) – compared to previous years – and SPKATHY is available for the other half (i.e., FORM Y).

Summary

In summary, the gender-neutral experiment is a traditional GSS wording experiment (using FORM and wording variation in the question text), and thus is labeled like a traditional experiment, identified with “-Y” suffix at the end. Both the volunteered/non-volunteered and grids experiments do not resemble previous GSS wording experiments, and thus have been given new label conventions. The volunteered/non-volunteered experiment manipulates only one response category, and the variables are assigned “-V” or “-NV” suffixes. The grid experiment changes how questions appear in the web mode, and the variables receive a “-G” suffix in the naming.

Future Releases

The Cross-section R3a Release Variables document¹² details which variables from the 2021 GSS Cross-section are available in the cumulative cross-section datafile as of Release 3a. Subsequent releases will update that document as new variables become available. The following topics are not included in Release 3a but are expected in future releases:

- Location information, including classification by region, type of place, and size
- Household Enumeration, including age, sex, and marital status for each household member, as well as relationships between household members
- Corrections to errors found in the GSS data

GSS data releases now contain a version control variable: FILEVERSION. Version 1 of the 2021 GSS Cross-section data was released in November 2021, with FILEVERSION set to 7221.1 for all cases. For Release 2, as of May 2022, FILEVERSION is set to 7221.2. Release 3 in November 2022 is set to 7221.3. Release 3a in January of 2023 is set to 7221.31

¹² <https://gss.norc.org/Documents/other/R3a%20Release%20Variables.pdf>

Please note that certain variables will not ever be included in the 2021 GSS Cross-section data, due to their absence on the 2021 GSS questionnaire. These include interviewer-observed paradata items, the WORDSUM series, and questions about the 2020 election. Some of these items are expected to return for the 2022 GSS.

FIELDING

The 2021 GSS Cross-section was conducted from December 1, 2020, to May 3, 2021, and was processed according to standard NORC procedures.

No in-person contact with selected households and respondents was done; outreach was conducted via mail and phone using commercially available phone number matches for addresses in the sample or inbound phone contact. GSS staff redesigned the mail-based outreach to respondents to introduce the GSS to fresh address-based sample and encourage them to participate, either by web or over the phone. Throughout the data collection period, selected households were sent postcards, invitation packets, and reminder letters using a combination of USPS and FedEx and urging them to complete the 2021 GSS survey. The sample was released in three batches, with evaluation of respondent recruitment protocol for each batch allowing the fine-tuning of protocol for subsequent batches.

Within households, respondents for the 2021 GSS Cross-section were selected by the last birthday method. In previous rounds of the GSS, NORC interviewers have used a Kish grid to select respondents within households, but this method was not possible without in-person interviewers.

A professional phone interviewer team conducted phone outreach to complete screeners, answer inbound phone calls from sampled households, identify respondents, and complete interviews by phone and/or prompt them to complete the web survey.

From the start of fielding, respondents located in areas with high Hispanic and/or Spanish-speaking prevalence were mailed bilingual English/Spanish versions of materials. Determinations of the likelihood of a household having Spanish speakers were made with a combination of Census data and commercially available lists of likely Spanish-speaking households.

Ultimately, 88.3 percent of respondents completed the 2021 GSS Cross-section survey via web survey, and 11.7 percent of respondents completed it by phone interview. The weighted 2021 Cross-section response rate was 17.4 percent.

SAMPLING DESIGN AND WEIGHTS

The 2021 GSS Cross-section Sample

The GSS 2021 sample was released in three batches, each with different start dates. The first sample batch consisted of 5,891 addresses from the NORC 2010 NORC National Sampling Frame, which we describe below, and 4,200 un-clustered addresses from a version of the United States Postal Service (USPS) Computerized Delivery Sequence File (CDS), for a total of 10,091 addresses. Batches two and three were based on the CDS and composed of 10,000 and 7,500 un-clustered addresses from the CDS, respectively. Batch 1 was released to the field on December 1, 2020. Batches 2 and 3 were released to the field on January 21, 2021, and February 24, 2021, respectively; all three batches remained open for data collection until the end of the field period on May 3, 2021.

The three sample batches supported the main mode of data collection based on a web-instrument and supplemented with phone for a limited number of cases who required it. The fact that the data collection method did not rely on interviewer-administration modes represented an opportunity to use a stratified un-clustered address sample. This is in contrast with previous years, which were primarily face to face, with a stratified clustered sample. Table 3 shows sample size and yields for each batch, each of which was based on a “mail push-to-web” design with multiple mailed reminders plus outbound telephone contacting.

As part of batch 1, the NORC National Sampling Frame provides the basis for an equal-probability multi-stage cluster sample of housing units for the entire United States. Every decade, NORC reselects a National Sampling Frame based on the Decennial Census. The 2021 GSS was the fourth to use the 2010 NORC National Sampling Frame.

First-stage units on the National Sampling Frame are called National Frame Areas (NFAs), each of which is composed of a USPS Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) of one or more counties outside of MSAs. The number of first-stage selections in the 2010 NORC National Sampling Frame is 126 NFAs and the GSS sample uses only 76 NFAs. Fifty-nine of the GSS NFAs are non-certainty NFAs in the GSS each represents 1 percent of the U.S. population, and the 17 of the GSS NFAs are certainty NFAs containing 41 percent of the U.S. population. The second-stage selection yielded a sample of segments that are census tracts in urban areas (where post office address lists are usually available) and a sample of segments that are block groups (smaller than census tracts) in rural areas where physical listing is often required.

The first-stage units (NFAs) and second-stage units (either census tracks or block groups) were selected with probabilities proportional to size, where the measure of size is determined by Census housing unit totals. The third-stage units (i.e., housing units) were selected with an equal probability of selection method (EPSEM)—which means that each housing unit has the same probability of selection. Using the EPSEM approach resulted in roughly the same number of housing units selected per second-stage sampling unit. The number of second-stage selections in the 2010 NORC National Frame is 1,514, but GSS uses only 400, which is four per 1 percent of the U.S. population.

Most of the addresses in the NORC National Sampling Frame come from the USPS CDS, but other than the 5,891 addresses in the first batch from the NORC National Sampling Frame, all other addresses sampled come from an EPSEM sample of all addresses from the CDS, which are all city-style addresses serviced by USPS.

GSS Post-stratification Weights

The weight variables (WTSS and WTSSNR) typically provided in previous GSS data files made simple adjustments of the GSS sampling design (i.e., sub-sampling). For the 2021 GSS Cross-section, we do not provide those design-adjusted weights; we have instead added weights adjusted by population controls; that is, post-stratification weight variables WTSSPS and WTSSNRPS. Due to many methodological changes in the 2021 GSS Cross-section as described earlier in this codebook, it is very important to use these post-stratification weights to get more representative results. This section details the methodology used to calculate the post-stratification weights for the 2021 GSS Cross-section Sample. As of Release 3, NORC is including post-stratified weights: WTSSPS and WTSSNRPS. WTSSPS is available for years 2000-2021 and WTSSNRPS is available for 2004-2021.

WTSSPS: We assigned this weight to the completed cases; it accounts for all stages of selection: NFA, segment, housing unit, within household, and raking to known population totals.

WTSSNRPS: This weight had one additional step: a non-response adjustment.

Post-stratification Weighting Methodology Steps in 2021

We calculated the weights for the 2021 GSS Cross-section cases using similar methods used in previous rounds—however, with an additional raking step to adjust to known population totals. Also, the 2021 GSS Cross-section sample was not collected in person but was based mostly on a mail push-to-web methodology (supplemented with phone for respondents who needed the option).

Due to the addition of a raking step adjustment to known population totals, WTSSPS and WTSSNRPS are precisely the same for all 4,032 completed interviews. This is because the non-response adjustment for WTSSNRPS uses one of the variables later used for raking: namely, Census Division. Both weight variables are scaled so that they sum to the number of completed cases (4,032).

W0. Unlike previous GSS samples that came directly from NORC National Sampling Frames, we supplemented a NORC National Sampling Frame sample intended for in-person interviewing with an un-clustered Address-Based Sample (ABS). To prepare for what we thought would be an in-person data collection in 2020, we selected 6,000 addresses from the 2010 NORC National Sampling Frame. Switching to a mail push-to-web approach for data collection necessitated two changes. First, we removed 109 addresses that were either undeliverable or drop points with more than four units (matching our ABS specification). We supplemented these 5,891 clustered addresses with 21,700 un-clustered ABS addresses, for a total sample size of 27,591 addresses. Both sources had an estimated frame size of approximately 133.7 million, so we assumed the combination was an equal probability sample of 27,591 addresses from a sample frame of 133,672,347 addresses, implying a selection probability of 0.000206408. The base weight for all 27,591 addresses is 4,844.781 (1/selection probability).

W1. Unlike previous GSS samples, we performed no subsampling during the field period. For consistency with previous rounds, we still treat W1 as the weight after subsampling. For the 2021 Cross-section round, $W1 = W0$.

W2. Next, we adjusted for eligibility. Not all cases in the frame are truly eligible for the survey: some are businesses, do not exist, or are unoccupied. This adjustment sets the weights of the ineligible cases to zero. Unlike previous rounds, we could not determine eligibility for most of the sample (due to the mail push-to-web methodology). There were 4,032 completes, 1,557 eligible non-responses, 2,332 ineligible households, and 19,670 unknown eligibility cases. The eligibility rates in 2016 (83.1 percent) and 2018 (84.7 percent) lead us to assume 84 percent of the total cases will be eligible (23,176), so we estimate that 89.41 percent of the unknown eligibility cases are eligible. Each of the unknown eligibility cases has its weight multiplied by .8941. Ineligible cases have a zero weight after this stage, while (known) eligible cases keep their full weight.

W3. The next step, an optional non-response adjustment, is done for the WTSSNRPS process but skipped for the WTSSPS process. This step distributes the weight of the non-responding cases to the responding cases. GSS traditionally uses a geographical non-response weight adjustment, and we did that here using Census Division (9 categories). The minimum weighted response rate was for the Northeast/Middle Atlantic states (14.27 percent; weight multiplication of 7.006), while the maximum weighted response rate was for the Midwest/West North Central states (21.38 percent; weight multiplication of 4.678). This step also creates the overall weighted response rate, which is 17.4 percent for the 2018 GSS.

W4. We performed all the steps through W3 at the household level, but the final GSS weights are at the individual adult level. Therefore, this step adjusts for the probability of selecting the respondent within the household. This probability is the inverse of the number of adults in the household. We did limit this adjustment to a maximum of five adults. The number of adults exceeded five for only nine of the households with completed interviews. Unlike previous GSS rounds, this variable (ADULTS) was never missing, so we did not need to perform any imputation.

W5. For the first time, GSS added an adjustment to known population totals for the 2021 Cross-section round based on a raking approach. We selected eight variables for a raking algorithm, which iteratively adjusts the weights to sum to the known population totals for each category of each of the raking variables, one at a time until the raked weights converge. Most of these variables suffer from missing data. The missing data were imputed using a simple hot-deck imputation prior to raking. For this simple hot-deck imputation, we only used the raking variables previously imputed as sorting variables. The eight raking variables were:

Census Division (never missing, nine categories):

- New England
- Mid-Atlantic
- East North Central
- West North Central
- South Atlantic
- East South Central
- West South Central
- Mountain
- Pacific

Marital Status (11 imputed values, two categories):

- Currently Married
- Not Currently Married

Hispanic Origin Status (21 imputed values, two categories):

- Of Hispanic Origin
- Not of Hispanic Origin

Education (23 imputed values, three categories):

- Less than High School Education
- High School Diploma, but no Four-Year College Degree
- Bachelor's Degree or more

U.S. Born Status (72 imputed values, two categories):

- Born in the United States
- Not Born in the United States

Gender (92 imputed values, two categories):

- Male
- Female

Race (97 imputed values, six categories):

- White
- African-American

- American Indian/Alaska Native
- Asian
- Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander
- Other

Age Group (333 imputed values, five categories):

- 18–29 years old
- 30–39 years old
- 40–49 years old
- 50–64 years old
- 65–89 years old

Final weights. The weights that result from this process are then scaled to the number of completed cases (4,032) to result in WTSSPS and WTSSNRPS.

Post-stratification Weights in 2000 – 2018

In Release 3 of the GSS cumulative data, post-stratification weights are extended back to earlier years. WTSSPS is available from 2000 while WTSSNRPS is available from 2004. The methodology used for the 2021 GSS was also applied to 2000-2018. For more information please consult Methodology Report 135¹³.

BALLOTFORM Weight

NORC created weights to adjust for ballot-form imbalance error that occurred in in 2002, 2010, 2012, 2016, and 2018. Please see Methodological Report 134 for details.¹⁴ The new weights are called BALLOTFORMWT and BALLOTFORMWTNR. These are individual-level rebalanced weights of WTSSALL for affected years. These new weights should be used in most cases when analyzing questions that are asked on only some ballots or forms in the affected years. In addition, the cumulative datafile includes the original unadjusted weights WTSS, WTSSALL, and WTSSNR, so interested researchers can conduct their own investigations into the impact of the error on their specific analyses.

Note that for the years affected by the ballot-form imbalance error, WTSSPS and WTSSNRPS do include the BALLOTFORMWT/BALLOTFORMWTNR correction.

¹⁴ <https://gss.norc.org/Documents/reports/methodological-reports/MR134%20-%20Ballot%20and%20Form.pdf>

Weighting Methodology Steps –BALLOTFORMWT and BALLOTFORMWTNR

WB1. The starting point for BALLOTFORMWT is WTSSALL and the starting point for BALLOTFORMWTNR is WTSSNR (WTSSALL and WTSSNR use the same weighting steps described above for WTSSPS and WTSSNRPS except W5 was not done for WTSSALL or WTSSNR).

WB2: Isolating the respondents in households affected by the assignment error (2-adults, 3-adults, 4-adults, and 6-or-more adults, but NOT 1-adult or 5-adult households), only the weights in these households were subjected to a raking step like that described in W5 above. We performed the raking within combinations of ballot and form, and included the dimensions of sex, age, marital status, and work status – variables determined to be skewed due to the assignment error. The resulting weighted demographic estimates within each combination of ballot and form are equal to the weighted estimates for the full set of respondents in affected households. The resulting weights are BALLOTFORMWT (applying the raking step to WTSSALL) and BALLOTFORMWTNR (applying the raking step to WTSSNR).

Historic Weights for the GSS Cumulative Cross-section

The 2021 GSS was designed with post-stratification weights in mind. When working with previous years of the GSS cross-section, or specific variables, additional weights are necessary.

Appropriate Weight	Reason For Weighting	Sample Years
FORMWT	A certain set of variables in these samples are based on questions that only appeared on one form and as a result were only asked of a subset of participants. Therefore, users must use a FORMWT when analyzing variables that appear on this list: Appendix P of the 1972-2018 GSS Codebook .	1978, 1980, 1982-1985
OVERSAMP	The 1982 and 1987 GSSs included oversamples of black respondents. To adjust statistical results for this oversampling, users should exclude cases in the black oversamples (codes 4, 5, and 7 on variable SAMPLE). Alternatively, if only analyzing the 1982 or 1987 samples users can weight statistical results using the OVERSAMP weight.	1982; 1987
WTSS, WTSSPS	Beginning in 2004, the GSS implemented a two-stage sub-sampling design for nonresponse. In these years, users should use WTSS to adjust for both sub-sampling of nonrespondents (via an area non-response adjustment) and number of adults in the household, although the GSS is self-correcting for the latter with household-level variables.	2004-2018
WTSSALL	WTSSALL expands the adults-in-household adjustment from WTSS to all years prior to 2004. No such adjustment is possible to account for sub-	1972-2018

	sampling of nonrespondents. However, from 2004 onwards, WTSS and WTSSALL are equal.
WTSSNR, WTSSNRPS	Beginning in 2004, the GSS began to use a two-stage sub-sampling design for nonresponse. To obtain weighted estimates adjusted for this non-response, users should use the -NR weight in these years (either WTSSNR or WTSSNRPS depending on the year of interest)	2004-2021
BALLOTFORMWT, BALLOTFORMWTNR	BALLOTFORMWT has updated values for WTSSALL that can fix the ballot and form assignment issue. BALLOTFORMWTNR has updated values for WTSSNR. For more information about the ballot and form assignment issue, please see Appendix D.	2002 (BALLOTFORMWT only), 2010, 2012, 2016, and 2018

HOW TO READ GSS CODEBOOK TABLES

For ease of usability and communication, the 2021 General Social Survey denotes a break from the codebook format that the GSS has been historically using. While the traditional codebook is still available with data up to the 2018 GSS, this new codebook format will continue to be used for the foreseeable future. To facilitate the use of this new format, several terms must be explained. The abbreviation “R,” which appears throughout the text and appendices, stands for “respondent.” Figure 5 shows the format for the codebook tables.

To help with ease of explanation, the example of “HAPMAR” provided can be divided into two sections: 1) Variable information—which can be found at the top of the question information—and 2) Variable responses—which can be found at the middle and bottom of the question.

Variable Information:

The title Variable (in the example, for HAPMAR) denotes the variable name. A mnemonic was assigned to each question to promote standardization in the use of GSS variable names and to meet the eight-character limitation imposed by some computer software systems (e.g., SPSS)

Type (In the example “Numeric”) refers to the form in which responses were coded. Questions were either recorded as “numeric” or “character.” Numeric variables may have a limited number of preset responses (e.g., “Agree” or “Disagree,” “Yes” or “No”) to which numeric “punches” or values are assigned, or, in the case of HAPMAR, responses are open-ended but numeric in nature. Character variables are generally open-ended questions with no preset responses (e.g., SEXSPEC).

Label shows question wording as it appeared in the questionnaire. For some variables, as is the case of HAPMAR, some question wording appears in full uppercase font. This uppercase information communicates conditions for the variable that interviewers were to be aware of as they conducted the questionnaire. This information was for the benefit of the interviewer, and respondents were not aware.

The Notes section is where essential question information appears (in the example, it is empty). This question information denotes historical changes to the variable, the manner in which the variable was asked, or as is the case in HAPMAR, related variables. For variables that have experienced historical changes, the “Notes” section directs readers to the appropriate reports to learn of those alterations over time.

Variable Responses

Under the heading LABEL, all possible answers to the questions are listed. The questionnaire contains four alternate forms of response as follows: 1) the answers were read to the respondent or listed on the screen in the web-mode (if they were included in the question); 2) answers were presented to the respondent on a card (indicated by interviewer instructions and variable notes); or 3) answers were marked by the interviewer to best correspond to the answer of the respondent (also indicated by interviewer instructions and variable note).

The term VALUE represents the code or numerical value that was assigned to each response. These are the numbers that the user will find punched in the columns. The frequency of occurrence of each of the punch values appears in the next three columns: first as a simple count of occurrences (i.e., unweighted frequency), then as a marginal unweighted percent of the individual responses, and finally as a cumulative unweighted percent in the final column headed PCT Excl. Reserve Codes. Summations of these three columns can be found along the SUBTOTALS row.

Respondents that did not choose one of the response codes, either intentionally or because they were not applicable, are captured in the RESERVE CODES table. The manner or reason of respondent item non-response is denoted either as "Don't Know," "Skipped on Web," or "Not applicable." The counts and marginal unweighted percent of these reserve codes is delineated in the following columns as was done with the VALUE table. Responses are mutually exclusive (i.e., only one code can appear for each respondent for each question), and final totals of all responses are in the final row, which is titled TOTALS.

Appendix A: 2021 GSS Cross-section Outcomes

The overall response rate for the 2021 cross-section data collection was 17.4 percent, with 4,032 completes from 27,591 lines of sample. Both the response rate and number of completes exceeded our original targets. Case status broke out as follows:

Table A1: 2021 GSS Cross-section Response Rate Calculation¹⁵

Status	Frequency
Complete	4,032
Eligible cases (partial or NIR)	5,589
Non-interviewed respondent – Eligibility not known	19,670
Total	27,591

Completes were defined as those cases that completed the full interview or met the data threshold predefined by the research team to be included with the Completes category. Partial completes were cases that started the GSS interview but did not meet the threshold to be included with Completes (i.e., completed two-thirds of the core section). Non-interviewed respondent (NIR) cases were split into two categories: eligibility known and eligibility not known. “Eligibility known” cases were those in which the sampled address was confirmed as being an occupied residence. “Eligibility not known” cases were those in which the address was not confirmed as being an occupied residence. Finally, out-of-scope cases were those in which the sampled address was identified as vacant, a business, or not an address. Out-of-scope cases were also those in which nobody in the sampled household spoke English or Spanish, or the selected respondent was ill or incapacitated and could not complete the interview. A total of 3,561 (88 percent) of completes were completed by web SAQ, with the remainder (471) completed by phone (12 percent).

¹⁵ The GSS uses AAPOR response rate 3, with an eligibility rate of .8941 (e) estimated based on historical data.

Response Rate = completes / (eligibles + e * unknown eligibility cases) = 4032 / (5,589 + .8941 * 19,670) = 17.39698 = 17.4%.

Data Use

SAS only

Due to the format limitation in SAS, the Release 3 of the GSS 1972-2021 data uses two format catalogs (format.sas7bcat) instead of one. Users must save the two format catalogs (included in the downloadable zip file) in two separate folders, and run the following codes before users run their own codes if users would like see value labels in the output.

libname libAM 'C:\FormatAM'; /* Replace C:\ with an appropriate folder location / libname libNZ 'C:\FormatNZ'; / Replace C:\ with an appropriate folder location */ option fmtsearch=(libam libnz);
```

Given the format limitation and use of the `fmtsearch` option, SAS may prompt an error message saying “ERROR: Limit of 4096 formats or informats in use in a single step has been exceeded.” To avoid running into this error, users should create a new data file by reading in only their desired subset of variables from the cumulative GSS data before they try to modify the data (e.g., creating a new variable).

libname gss 'C:\GSS_sas'; /* Replace 'C:\GSS_sas' with an appropriate folder location */
data newdata; /* “newdata” is a filename of the modified data / set gss.gss7221_r3 (keep=id year / variable list */);
run;
```

The GSS team is working on a solution to simplify data use for SAS users.

STATA only

By default, Stata/MP and Stata/SE can handle 5,000 variables, when the cumulative GSS data set has over 6,000 variables. Thus, users should increase the maximum number to something like 7,000 to run the cumulative GSS data.

set maxvar 7000, permanent

(Please note Stata/IC cannot handle all variables in the cumulative GSS data file.)

To deal with the ballot-form assignment issue (see Appendix D), the simplest solution is using post-stratification weights (WTSSPS or WTSSNRPS). If users prefer to use the traditional sampling adjustment weights (WTSSALL or WTSSNR), they must use one of the following weights: BALLOTFORMWT or BALLOTFORMWTNR (see “Sampling Design and Weights”). Because these weights are coded to missing values for those years not affected by the ballot-form issue, trend analyses are not possible only using these weight variables. To address this issue, users may modify the data file by copying the updated weight values for affected years from BALLOTFORMWT or BALLOTFORMWTNR to WTSSALL or WTSSNR.¹⁶ Then users can use WTSSALL or WTSSNR in the analysis while addressing the ballot-form issue. The below codes show one way to handle copying the updated weight values.

libname gss 'C:\GSS_sas'; /* Replace 'C:\GSS_sas' with an appropriate folder location */
data newdata; /* "newdata" is a filename of the modified data */ set gss.gss7221_r3;
if year in (2002,2010,2012,2016,2018) then wtssall=ballotformwt;
if year in (2010,2012,2016,2018) then wtssnr=ballotformwtnr;
run;

STATA

replace wtssall=ballotformwt if inlist(year,2002,2010,2012,2016,2018) replace wtssnr=ballotformwtnr if inlist(year,2010,2012,2016,2018)

Data Analysis (example)

proc surveyfreq data=library.gss7221_r3 missing nosummary;
    cluster VPSU;
    strata VSTRAT;
    weight WTSSNRPS;
    table WRKSTAT;
run;
```

svyset [pweight=WTSSNRPS], strata(vstrat) psu(vpsu) singleunit(scaled) svy: tab WRKSTAT, percent col format(%3.0f)

¹⁶ Alternatively, users can copy weight values from WTSSALL or WTSSNR to BALLOTFORMWT or BALLOTFORMWTNR for unaffected years.

APPENDIX C: Other GSS Datasets and Documentation

2016-2020 GSS Panel Data₁(in STATA & SAS)

- The dataset from the panel reinterviews of past respondents from the 2016 and 2018 Cross-section GSS Studies. This dataset is most helpful for those seeking person-level changes, particularly changes resulting from: 1) the passage of time, 2) the COVID-19 pandemic, and 3) the shift from face-to-face (F2F) to web self-administered questionnaire (SAQ). The 2016-2020 GSS panel survey was fielded from August 24, 2020, to September 26, 2020.

GSS-ANES

- The 2016-2020 GSS Panel Wave 2 includes a collaboration between the GSS and American National Election Studies (ANES), which was planned before the COVID-19 pandemic and was extensively modified in light of delays in data collection. The 2016-2020 GSS Panel Wave 2 interview contained a module of items drawn from the ANES, including attitudes on several issues, feelings thermometers for the presidential candidates, and plans for voting in the 2020 presidential election. Following the completion of the 2016-2020 GSS Panel Wave 2 in September 2020, all respondents who: 1) were U.S. citizens, 2) could be located within U.S. voting districts, and 3) completed the ANES module were eligible and were contacted to complete the 2020 ANES postelection survey. Any eligible citizen who completed both surveys (i.e., Wave 2 GSS survey and the ANES follow-up questionnaire) can be linked with a key, which will be available in the future. For more information, please see the ANES/GSS collaboration codebook, which will be available later in 2021

GSS Codebook

- This is the legacy codebook that combines all of the notes, appendices, and frequency tables of the GSS since its inception in 1972 up through 2018:https://gss.norc.umd.edu/Documents/codebook/gss_codebook.zip. This is useful to see how trends have changed over the decades, find question-level wording, and find when questions were added or discontinued.

GSS Data Explorer

- A web-based interactive tool to access and analyze GSS data, question wording, and ballot timing: <https://gssdataexplorer.norc.umd.edu/>. The Data Explorer is helpful to visualize individual variables' trend lines or extract data into various software packages. As of December 2021, the Data Explorer is on its 2.0 release, and users with accounts from 1.0 may have to recreate previous analysis.

GSS Panel \(2006-2014\) Release Notes and Datasets (in SPSS & STATA)

- In 2006 the GSS started a transition from a replicating cross-sectional design to a design that uses rotating panels. By 2008, there were two components: a new 2008 cross-section with 2,023 cases and the first reinterviews with 1,536 respondents from the 2006 GSS. In 2010 the new design was fully implemented. There was a new cross-section of 2,044 cases, the first reinterviews of the 2008 GSS respondents, and the second and final reinterviews of the 2006 GSS respondents. This three-wave, rolling panel design was also used in 2012. Each GSS in 2006–2010 thus started a new four-year/three-wave panel, which was completed four years later (2006-08-10, 2008-10-12, 2010-12-14). However, in 2012 no new three-wave panel was started. The table below shows the design of how the various panels overlapped in time but not participants.

National Congregations Study \(NCS\)

- In the 1998, 2006, 2012, and 2018 GSS, respondents who attend religious services were asked to name their religious congregation. A variety of information about each congregation was gathered from the interview with a key informant at each congregation in 1998 and 2006–2007. A third round based on the 2012 GSS was conducted in 2012. A fourth round based on the 2018 GSS was conducted in 2018. These studies were administered by NORC, having Mark Chaves as Principal Investigator of the NCS. More information is available from the National Congregations Study website..

National Organizations Survey \(NOS\)

- In the 1991 GSS, the survey collected the name and contact information of the employer of the respondent and their spouse. Arne L. Kalleberg, David Knoke, Peter V. Marsden, and Joe L. Spaeth carried out a follow-up study of these employers, producing the first wave of the National Organizations Survey (NOS). The NOS has 727 cases that consist of a) information on the employer, b) information about the GSS respondent and/or spouse employed by the employer, and c) aggregate industry-level information. The second wave of NOS (n=516) was collected in 2002 based on the 2002 GSS respondents. Both files are available from ICPSR.

GSS-National Death Index (NDI)

- The National Death Index (NDI) is a database of all the deaths in the United States. The NDI allows investigators to determine whether persons in their studies have died by providing: 1) names of the state in which those deaths occurred, 2) dates of death, 3) corresponding death certificate numbers, and 4) causes of death. In the 2009–2010, GSS respondents from 1978 to 2002 were linked to the National Death Index. This study was carried out by Peter Muennig, Columbia University. The indicator of possible vital status as of 2014 (variable name: DEATH) is now part of the downloadable GSS data. For more information on how to access these data contact the GSS team at gss@norc.org.

APPENDIX D: Assignment Error by Ballot and Form

(Note: The following text is the Executive Summary of GSS Methodological Report 134 available on the GSS main website.)

The General Social Survey (GSS) has three ballots and two forms that combine to create six different versions of the survey questionnaire. This approach enables us to reduce respondent burden by asking some questions of subsamples of respondents and also allows us to conduct question wording experiments using the two forms. The GSS also randomly selects an adult in the household to complete the survey interview to ensure that the probability sample design is extended to selecting a respondent within the household. An error occurred in how respondents were assigned to the ballots and forms of the GSS questionnaire in 2002, 2010, 2012, 2016, and 2018, resulting in imbalances across questionnaire versions in some types of households. This error does not affect the random selection of the respondent within household in these years. However, the error resulted in the mean age varying by questionnaire ballot and form, as well as associated demographic characteristics that are patterned by the age structure of households (e.g., sex). GSS users helped to identify the error by notifying NORC they had discovered demographic variations by form. Importantly, for questions asked on all ballots and forms of the GSS, the assignment error did not impact the composition of the sample or the estimates.

NORC created new weights that address the assignment error, and this report summarizes our analysis of the assignment error. The analysis compares the estimates for all questions in the affected years using the original and the new weights to approximate the bias from the error. The average difference across categories between the original and adjusted estimates is 0.42 for questions that are asked on only some forms or ballots in the affected years (and 0.36 percentage points across all questions). Fully 95.0 percent of questions tested that were asked on some forms or ballots had an average difference across categories of 1 percentage point or fewer and only 0.2 percent (4 questions) had a difference of 3 percentage points or greater. Furthermore, equivalence testing indicates that potentially meaningful differences exist between the two sets of estimates for only 1.2 percent of questions (24 questions) across the affected years.

This report reviews the findings from the analysis, and the appendix includes a detailed breakdown of all questions in the affected years, the magnitude of the difference, and whether the difference was statistically meaningfully different. The consequences of the assignment error by ballot are small because the error was present only for 3-adult and 6-or-more adult households (10.9 percent of respondents in 2018), and most questions appear on at least two of the three ballots. As a result, the error was partially or fully offset in the aggregate because of the variation in age structure that exists across the different households impacted, and misassignment in the affected households is minimized when data across ballots are aggregated.

For the assignment error by form, more households were impacted because the error was present for 2-adult, 4-adult, and 6-or-more adult households (55.5 percent of respondents in 2018). Since more households were impacted, this resulted in larger age imbalances by form in the years affected by the assignment error. The question wording experiments that use form had the most potential to be impacted by the assignment error, given the number of households impacted. Nonetheless, the analysis shows that the impacts are small for most questions asked on only one form, although a few questions do show larger impacts.

The overall conclusion of the report is that the impact of the error was partially or entirely self-correcting and thus has minimal consequences for analysis of GSS data, including those published in the past. Overall, our results indicate that nearly all substantive conclusions based on simple univariate associations will be the same whether analysts use the original or the new weights. While we cannot rule out the possibility that users' multivariate analyses may be affected, our example analysis suggests that any differences should be minimal. Even so, the new weight should be used in most cases when analyzing questions that are asked on only some ballots or forms in the affected years.

WORDA	1	We would like to know something about how people go about guessing words they do not know. On this card are listed some words--you may know some of them, and you may not know quite a few of them. On each line the first word is in capital letters -- like BEAST. Then there are five other words. Tell me the number of the word that comes closest to the meaning of the word in capital letters. For example, if the word in capital letters is BEAST, you would say '4' since 'animal' come closer to BEAST than any of the other words. If you wish, I will read the words to you. These words are difficult for almost everyone-- just give me your best guess if you are not sure of the answer. (CIRCLE ONE CODE NUMBER FOR EACH ITEM BELOW) Word A

NEXTGEN	3	For each statement, please tell me if you strongly agree, agree, disagree, or strongly disagree. Because of science and technology, there will be more opportunities for the next generation.
TOOFAST	3	Science makes our way of life change too fast. (Do you strongly agree, agree, disagree, or strongly disagree?)
ADVFRONT	3	Even if it brings no immediate benefits, scientific research that advances the frontiers of knowledge is necessary and should be supported by the federal government. (Do you strongly agree, agree, disagree, or strongly disagree?)
SCIENTGO	3	Scientific researchers are dedicated people who work for the good of humanity. Do you strongly agree, agree, disagree, or strongly disagree?
SCIENTBE	3	Most scientists want to work on things that will make life better for the average person. (Do you strongly agree, agree, disagree, or strongly disagree?)
SCIENTHE	3	Scientists are helping to solve challenging problems. (Do you strongly agree, agree, disagree, or strongly disagree?)
SCIENTOD	3	Scientists are apt to be odd and peculiar people. (Do you strongly agree, agree, disagree, or strongly disagree?)
ASTROLOGY	3	Now, for a new subject. Do you ever read a horoscope or your personal astrology report?
ASTROSCI	3	Would you say that astrology is very scientific, sort of scientific, or not at all scientific?
SCIBNFTS	3	Would you say that, on balance, the benefits of scientific research have outweighed the harmful results, or have the harmful results of scientific research been greater than its benefits?
SCIBNFTSV	3	Would you say that, on balance, the benefits of scientific research have outweighed the harmful results, or have the harmful results of scientific research been greater than its benefits?

INDUSGEN	3	In general, do you think that air pollution caused by industry, is . . .
WATERGEN	3	In general, do you think that pollution of America's rivers, lakes, and streams is . . .
NANOWILL	3	Nanotechnology works at the molecular level atom by atom to build new structures, materials, and machines. People have frequently noted that new technologies have produced both benefits and harmful results. Do you think the benefits of nanotechnology will outweigh the harmful results or the harmful results will outweigh the benefits?
NANOGEN	3	Would you say that the balance will be strongly in favor of the benefits, or only slightly?
NANOHARM	3	Would you say that the balance will be strongly in favor of the harmful results, or only slightly?
SCISTUDY	3	We are interested in how many people recognize certain kinds of terms. First, some articles refer to the results of a scientific study. When you read or hear the term scientific study, do you have a clear understanding of what it means, a general sense of what it means, or little understanding of what it means?
SCITEXT	3	In your own words, could you tell me what it means to study something scientifically?
EXPDESIGN	3	Now, please think about this situation. Two scientists want to know if a certain drug is effective against high blood pressure. The first scientist wants to give the drug to one thousand people with high blood pressure and see how many of them experience lower blood pressure levels. The second scientist wants to give the drug to five hundred people with high blood pressure, and not give the drug to another five hundred people with high blood pressure, and see how many in both groups experience lower blood pressure levels. Which is the better way to test this drug?
EXPTXT	3	Why it is better to test the drug this way?
ODDS1	3	Think about this situation. A doctor tells a couple that their genetic makeup means that they've got one in four chances of having a child with an inherited illness. Does this mean that if their first child has the illness, the next three will not have the illness?
ODDS2	3	Does this mean that each of the couple's children will have the same risk of suffering from the illness?
HOTCORE	3	(Now, I would like to ask you a few short questions like those you might see on a television game show. For each statement that I read, please tell me if it is true or false. If you don't know or aren't sure, just tell me so, and we will skip to the next question. Remember true, false, or don't know.) First, the center of the Earth is very hot. Is that true or false?
RADIOACT	3	All radioactivity is man-made. (Is that true or false?)
BOYORGL	3	It is the father's gene that decides whether the baby is a boy or a girl. (Is that true or false?)
LASERS	3	Lasers work by focusing sound waves. (Is that true or false?)
ELECTRON	3	Electrons are smaller than atoms. (Is that true or false?)
VIRUSES	3	Antibiotics kill viruses as well as bacteria. (Is that true or false?)
BIGBANG	3	The universe began with a huge explosion. (Is that true or false?)
BIGBANG2	3	The universe has been expanding ever since it began. (Is that true or false?)
BIGBANG1	3	According to astronomers, the universe began with a huge explosion. (Is that true or false?)
CONDRIFT	3	The continents on which we live have been moving their locations for millions of years and will continue to move in the future. (Is that true or false?)
EVOLVED	3	Human beings, as we know them today, developed from earlier species of animals. (Is that true or false?)
EVOLVED2	3	Elephants, as we know them today, descended from earlier species of animals. (Is that true or false?)
EARTHSUN	3	Now, we have another kind of question. Does the Earth go around the Sun, or does the Sun go around the Earth?

 The response categories have been collapsed for convenience of display.
 PRESTG105PLUS is based on the 2010 Census occupation classification.
 This prestige score is calculated using an alternative method, based on the percentage of ratings that is greater than or equal to a threshold
 (rating five).
 The effect of individual raters is also removed using hierarchical linear modeling (HLM).

Variable: SIZE Type: Numeric

Label: SIZE OF PLACE:
 Size of place in thousands is a 4 digit code which provides actual size of place of interview. Remember when using this code to add 3 zeros. Listed below are the frequencies for gross population categories.

Notes:

This code is the population to the nearest 1,000 of the smallest civil division listed by the U.S. Census (city, town, other incorporated area over 1,000 in population, township, division, etc.) which encompasses the segment.

If a segment falls into more than one locality, the following rules apply in determining the locality for which the rounded population figure is coded.

If the predominance of the listings for any segment are in one of the localities, the rounded population of that locality is coded.

If the listings are distributed equally over localities in the segment, and the localities are all cities, towns, or villages, the rounded population of the larger city or town is coded.

The same is true if the localities are all rural townships or divisions.

If the listings are distributed equally over localities in the segment and the localities include a town or village and a rural township or division, the rounded population of the town or village is coded.

The source of the data is the 1970 U.S. Census p

Some people think that the government in Washington ought to reduce the income differences between the rich and the poor, perhaps by raising the taxes of wealthy families or by giving income assistance to the poor.

Others think that the government should not concern itself with reducing this income difference between the rich and the poor. Here is a scale from 1 to 7.

Think of a score of 1 as meaning that the government ought to reduce the income differences between rich and poor, and a score of 7 meaning that the government should not concern itself with reducing income differences.

What score between 1 and 7 comes closest to the way you feel?

Label: Suppose there is a community-wide vote on the general housing issue. There are two possible laws to vote on: One law says that a homeowner can decide whom to sell their house to, even if that homeowner prefers not to sell to someone because of their race or color. The second law says that a homeowner cannot refuse to sell to someone because of their race or color. Which law would you vote for?

Notes: RACOPENNV and RACOPENV replace RACOPEN in the 2021 GSS Cross-section.

Hand Card A7 contained responses 1-2. If respondent is Black, Hand Card A8 contained responses 1-2.

RACOPENNV was included on ballot B in 2021.

Please consult the questionnaire at https://gss.norc.org/Documents/quex/GSS2020_CrossSection_Ballot2_A4S.pdf for more information, and take caution when analyzing 2021 data in historical trends for RACOPENNV.

Variable: VIETDRAFT Type: Numeric

Label: Born on date with a Vietnam War draft lottery number

Notes: This variable takes an input of any date from 01/01/1945 to 12/31/1956

(the range of birth dates that were eligible for conscription during the Vietnam War) and reports whether respondents born on that date had a draft lottery number that meant that they would have been drafted to serve in the Vietnam War. The draft lottery only applied to men, but women are coded for purposes of a placebo test.

Please also note that citizenship status was not considered when we assigned codes due to the insufficient information we have. Approximately 10% of those cases who were originally coded to 0 or 1 on VIETDRAFT were perturbed.

For more information about the variable, see the Selective Service System's Vietnam Lottery records webpage

(<https://www.sss.gov/history-and-records/vietnam-lotteries/>)

(alternatively,

<https://www.randomservices.org/random/data/Draft.html> provides data for all draft years in a single table).

We would like to know something about how people go about guessing words they do not know.

On this card are listed some words--you may know some of them, and you may not know quite a few of them.

On each line the first word is in capital letters -- like BEAST.

Then there are five other words.

Tell me the number of the word that comes closest to the meaning of the word in capital letters. For example, if the word in capital letters is BEAST, you would say '4'

since 'animal' come closer to BEAST than any of the other words.

If you wish, I will read the words to you.

These words are difficult for almost everyone-- just give me your best guess if you are not sure of the answer.

In 2008 an error in a skip instruction was discovered shortly before the start of the field period.

It was not possible to correct the error until after data collection had started.

The program correction was implemented starting April 25.

As a result,

151 cases in the cross-sectional on versions 1 or 2 who should have been asked vocabulary questions were wrongly skipped.

More details on this sample matter are available from the project.

Codebook and Unweighted Frequencies for the 2021 General Social Survey (GSS)

Household Composition

Variable: HHTYPE Type: Numeric

Label: Household Type.

Notes:

This variable classifies households from information on the household enumeration form (HEF) on the basis of 1) number of adults (household members 18 and older), 2) the presence of children

(0 vs. 1+ household members less than 18), 3) number of married people in the household, 4) relation of second or third listed persons to head (in households with 2 or 3 adults), and 5)

gender of head and second listed person when second listed person is not related to the head

(in households with two adults).

When the HEF roster counts differed from the processed HEF variables (ADULTS, BABIES, PRETEEN, TEENS, HOMPOP), the processed values were utilized.

This generally means that household members away from the housing unit and living in another household or institution were not counted for this variable (see above AWAY1-14 and WHERE1-14).

Visitors not absent from the household are counted.

Household Composition

Variable: HHTYPE1 Type: Numeric

Label: Household type (condensed)

Notes: This variable is a collapse or recode of HHTYPE.
The categories are explained below.

- (1)
Married couple with no children = 2 or more adults with either respondent being married or two or more members being listed as married with no one under age 18.
- (2) Single parent = 1 adult and 1 or more members under age 18.
- (3) Other family,
no children = 2 or more adults with 2nd or 3rd person listed related to head of household;
no married couple and no household members under age 18.
- (4) Single adult = 1 adult and no one under age 18.
- (5) Cohabiting couple,
no children = 2 adults of different genders not married nor related to each other. This category covers most, but not all, cohabiting couples.
Excluded are cohabiting couples in which relationship and/or gender information was missing or households with three or more adults with at least one unrelated to the others. Also, same sex cohabiting couples are excluded.
See GSS Methodological Report No. 73 for more details.
- (6) Non-family, no children = 2 adults with 2nd

Household Composition

Variable: FAMGEN Type: Numeric

Label: Number of family generations in household.

Notes: This variable indicates how many direct family generations (e.g. grandparent, parent, child) reside in the household.

It counts children-in-law and parents-in-law as direct relations, but does not count collateral relatives (e.g. nieces and nephews, aunts and uncles). In addition, it is impossible to identify grandparents (or above) of the head.

It should be noted that for FAMGEN children were defined by their relationship to household head, not by their age as in HHTYPE.

All regular household members and visitors listed on the roster are counted regardless of presence. For more details, see NORC Methodological Report No. 73.

Household Composition

Variable: RELHH1 Type: Numeric

Label: What is
(PERSON)'s relationship to head of household?
Relationship of first person to head of household?

Notes: Over the years,
the variables of household composition have changed twice.
The RELATE1-14 series has been asked over all the years of the survey.
In 1993, extra categories were added and, because of this, the variable names were changed to RELHHD1-14. In 2000, two additional changes were made. First, the definition of head of household was changed from "head of household" to "the person or one of the persons who own or rents this home." Second, additional categories were added about children. Because of this,
a new household composition series, RELHH1-14, was created.
RELHH variables can be collapsed into the RELHHD format, and the RELHHD variables can be collapsed into the RELATE series.

Two scientists want to know if a certain drug is effective against high blood pressure.

The first scientist wants to give the drug to one thousand people with high blood pressure and see how many of them experience lower blood pressure levels.

The second scientist wants to give the drug to five hundred people with high blood pressure, and not give the drug to another five hundred people with high blood pressure, and see how many in both groups experience lower blood pressure levels. Which is the better way to test this drug?
